

POWER SEEDING

Power Seeding New or Severely Damaged Lawns

The name says it all. Power Seeding is about using precise state of the art equipment to literally sow seeds directly into the soil on your lawn without excessive damage to your existing turf. Getting grass seeds to grow comes down to one important component – seed to soil contact. Lawn Doctor's Turf Tamer Power Seeder combines the new seed with your lawn's soil for the best possible results. Simply throwing seeds on top of bare spots doesn't cut it. You'll end up with a very low germination rate; Typically, only around 10%. In other words, just one in every ten seeds will grow. But with our power seeding grass process, superior seed and fertilizer and specialized equipment, your germination rate will be over 90%***.

When it comes to seeding, using the best equipment and quality seed makes all the difference. Let Lawn Doctor help you decide the best possible way to give you a beautiful new lawn.

- Power seeding is the best option for a new lawn where there is no existing turf.
- Power seeding can quickly restore a thin, bare and overstressed lawn to the thick, lush and healthy lawn you want.
- Power seeding may also be the best option in cases where weeds are rampant, or animals and insects have damaged your lawn.
- Because of the strong Seed-to-Soil contact, you'll see thicker, healthier result.
- Our Power Seeder uses ground-metered technology to make sure your lawn is evenly seeded, ensuring no sparse or clumpy patches and no rows or patterns.

*So long as you follow our maintenance and watering guidelines, with our patented Power Seeding process and equipment, you can expect a germination rate of approximately 90% new grass.
